THE SCHROCK FAMILY

by

THOMAS S. REED

To borrow a sentiment from Eric Satie, I might say that the origin of the Schrocks goes back, perhaps, to a very distant time.
Yes.

Acknowledgments

I would like to sincerely thank the many people who have so generously helped in compiling this record of the Schrock family. Ethel Clark made the first copy of the record. Mary White and I have elaborated on it, with the help of a host of persons. A very few of those who have supplied information are: Verna Darling, Joseph S. Schrock, Maude Pipes, Charlotte Kent, Maude Hillard, Herman Schrock, Merlin Schrock, Roy Schrock, Mabel Neal, Willis Schrock, and Burt Schrock. There are scores of others.

T. S. Reed

It will be seen that our information about the Schrock family is not complete, and some one will find at least one mistake, somewhere. We have done our best to keep errors to a minimum. I am hopeful that readers will feel free to correct any errors or add missing information to the history.

From the newspaper Missouri Ruralist, Apr. 12, 1941

"This old Conestoga wagon box which brought Perez D.Schrock and his family of 12 from Springfield, West Virginia, to Sullivan County, Mo., in 1843 is still in the possession of Paul B. Hill, Humphreys, great-grandson of the original possessor. The wagon was made in West Virginia in 1830; it was used for a time as a freight wagon between Springfield, W. Va. and Baltimore, Md., through Winchester, Va., over the Alleghany Mountains, pulled by a 6 horse team. All of the irons used in the construction of this wagon box were hammered out by hand by a blacksmith."

Beginnings

As you might guess, going back two hundred years into the lives of people, even your own people, isn't always so easy as turning on a light switch. It seems that sometimes the unknown past insists on remaining the unknown past. There have been a number of people however who have told me a great deal about the Schrock family, all in good faith. At this writing there is now a certain amount of illumination when there was very little before.

As luck would have it, I'm no Sherlock Holmes. I began by putting down some names and dates, given to me by Mary F. White. What I innocently supposed would remain a list of names and dates developed into a number of intriguing stories, mostly passed down from generation to generation by word of mouth, stories about the Schrocks which support a general thread of events but by no means always agree with each other. Stories that won't be quiet. In the face of being unable to separate the truth from half-truth, or turn night into day, which I rather anticipated anyway, the following account of people who lived and people who are living will be only according to the way I heard it, as nearly as I can repeat it. Perhaps in time a more accurate and complete version will be known.

The Schrock family has a long record in time. The name is German, and while no trace of the family in Germany has been found, the name has been a fairly common one there for centuries. One family tale states that three brothers came to America from either Germany, France, or Alsace, Lorraine, many years ago. Several persons have mentioned this story about three brothers. Another tale relates that a mother and her two sons crossed the Atlantic from Germany, that during the voyage the mother died and was buried at sea, that the ship landed in Maine where one of the sons settled, while the other son, the ancestor of this record, went to Virginia and settled. A third tale, possibly the most likely, is that the Schrock ancestor went from Germany to Ireland, from where he sailed across the Atlantic to America. Clarrel (Carl) M. Schrock told me this, and also that during the voyage he helped cut up a whale and render the blubber. I have been unable to find any family records or letters dating back to this time, or any published historical records which identify the Schrock immigrant ancestor. It is not likely that the immigrant ancestor and his immediate descendants had little time or need to keep a diary or write letters. If there were any records, they possibly would have been in German. In Virginia about 1750, the concern of most people was to keep a small farm going and to keep off the Indians.

Some information given by Edgar Hoyle Schrock to the author of a history of Linn county, Missouri, does not necessarily conflict with the above tales. We learn from this source that the immigrant ancestor came from Germany and was called Perez Schrock. This Perez Schrock would be the great grandfather of Edgar H. Schrock, and it is very possible that a tale only four generations old would be rather reliable, in a time when word of mouth was the almost necessary method of keeping history of most people. Another family legend however is not satisfactorily reconciled with the above story about "Perez Schrock", the alleged immigrant ancestor.

Winchester, Virginia, is said to be the birth place of William Schrock, Sr., who according to family records was the great grandfather of Edgar H. Schrock. The great grandfather of Edgar H. Schrock, it should be noticed, is called by two names, and this same great grandfather is said to have been born in Winchester, Va., and to have been the immigrant ancestor. He was obviously not born in Virginia and overseas. There is some reason to believe that Perez Schrock and Wm. Schrock, Sr. are the same person, as will be shown later. Whether this great grandfather was born in Germany or in Winchester, Va., has not been determined. It may be that the great-great grandfather or even an earlier member of the family was the immigrant ancestor. It seems fairly evident though, that the immigrant ancestor was German and whether he was the only one of his family to arrive in America or not, he or one of his descendants lived at or near Winchester, Va., somewhere between 1750 and 1790.

The evidence for believing that Perez Schrock and William Schrock, Sr. are the same person, that this person's full name was Wm. Perez Schrock, consists of (1) the information given in "Compendium of History And Biography of Linn County, Missouri," 1912, naming the great grandfather of Edgar H. Schrock as Perez Schrock, (2) the information supplied by an old receipt dated 1824, made out to W. Perez Schrock, and (3) a note found in some family records at Westerville, Ohio, naming the husband of Jane (Means) Schrock as "Wm. P. Schrock, Sr." Everyone who has been familiar with the great grandfather of the Schrock family has referred to him as Wm. Schrock, Sr. No one, not even one person has called him Perez or Wm. Perez. The above written sources seem to indicate that his full name was really Wm. Perez Schrock. The receipt I have just mentioned was given to me by L. Ethel Clark, who received it from Mark B. Fetty, who in turn found it among his mother's possessions. Mark Fetty's mother was Sarah Cornelia (Schrock) Fetty, great grand-daughter of Wm. Schrock, Sr. In these pages is a photograph of this receipt. It is the only written heirloom I have seen dating back to Virginia times. Below is a quotation from the sketch of Edgar H. Schrock, in "Compendium of History and Biography of Linn County, Missouri," cpyr. 1912, Chicago, Henry Taylor & Co., page 678: "...The paternal grandfather, Perez Schrock, was also a native of Virginia. He was a farmer and moved to Missouri in 1843, as has been stated. He died on his farm in Sullivan County about 1868, and his wife, whose maiden name was Nancy Long, died in Linn county in 1880. They were the parents of eight sons and eight daughters, all now deceased. The great grandfather, whose name was also Perez Schrock, came to this country from Germany, and settled in Virginia at an early date."

The meaning of the name Schrock has a noticable connection with the legend told by Roy Schrock, about the mother and two sons who sailed from Germany. The word "schrock" is a word in the old German or middle German language, and meant "fright". In modern German, this word is changed in spelling to "schreck", and has the same meaning. There are several forms of this word in modern German, for example "erschrecken", which means "to frighten", and a form of the word which keeps the original spelling in its root, "erschrocken", as in "they frightened". "Schrecklichkeit" is a word taken from the German into English, and was heard occasionally during world war II; it means: that which scares the pants off of. Roy Schrock tells the story of a knight of German medieval times named Red Hans, who so distinguished himself in the eyes of the King by his bravery and valiance, that the king bestowed upon him a considerable estate and honored him with the name Schrock. The mother and two sons are said to be descendants of this Hans Schrock, alias Red Hans. There may be a shred of truth in this legend. I couldn't say. I do not believe Roy Schrock was familiar with the old meaning of the word Schrock when he told this story. Roy said that in their language Schrock meant comrade of the king. The main idea is that the name Schrock is a venerable one.

We find the Schrock family finally located at or near Winchester, Va., about 1760. This is according to family tradition since no proof of this has been found. Winchester is near the northern end of the Shenandoah Valley, into which many immigrants came from Pennsylvania along natural valley travel routes. One of the immigrants to the Shenandoah Valley from the north is told to have been Jacob Shryock, who Charlotte E. Kent told me could have been the father of William Schrock, Sr., and who could have been the immigrant ancestor. This is very possible, altho Schrock and Shryock are spelled differently, but I have found no evidence of any kind concerning a relationship between the Shryock and Schrock families. There may be a relationship, as Charlotte Kent believes, but it has not been explained. A situation may have existed which family pride on both sides would not tolerate, or there may be no kin at all between the families. Both families seem in the main to reject the possibility of kinship with any other family name. There were several family names in Pennsylvania and in the Virginia Shenandoah Valley, similar to "Schrock", such as Schrack, Shrock, Schrag, and Shreck, but no connection whatsoever has come to my attention about any of these families being related to the Schrock family of this history. There are also families of the name Schrock, spelled like the family in this history, who are traceable to Ohio, who have not been shown to be relatives of this Schrock family, despite the coincidence that both Schrock families lived in Ohio when that state was being first settled.

There are undoubtedly other tales about the origin of the family. The above stories are all that I am now familiar with.

Some say Wm. Schrock, Sr., or Wm. Perez Schrock, was born in 1763. Some say 1752. A photograph of his grave in Ohio says 1757 or 1758 (died Dec. 20, 1847, aged 89 yr.). 'The "Old Northwest" Genealogical Quarterly', 1905, Vol. VIII., pp. 220, 221, lists the Blendon Pioneer Cemetery gravestone inscriptions, among which is that of Wm. Schrock, Sr. This quarterly reads: "Schrock Wm., Sr., d. Dec. 20, 1847. Born at Romney, W. Va." The family tradition stating that Wm. Schrock, Sr. was born at Winchester, Va., is at variance with the grave inscription reading that he was born in Romney, W. Va. There may be no way to determine at which place he was born, assuming naturally that he was born in one of the two towns and not somewhere else.

The two different accounts of his birthplace might be explained by the fact that one of his sons went to Missouri and left many descendants, while most of Wm., Sr.'s other children went to Ohio and also left many descendants, and isolated as these two branches became, their recollections of the past may have become increasingly different. If Wm. Schrock, Sr. was born in Romney though, why does Winchester, Va., figure so prominently in memories about the early Schrock family? Winchester is probably an important part of the puzzle, but exactly how it fits in has remained unsolved.

We were fortunate in being able to spend one day in Romney, W. Va., not long ago. In Romney we learned something about h^{am}. We were advised that we might have Virginia ham, which was excellent, or West Virginia ham, which was even more excellent. Romney is located on a hill top---or mountain top---with a beautiful mountain landscape in practically every direction.

There is not much doubt that Wm. Schrock, Sr. lived for many years at Romney. Wm. Schrock's name is mentioned several times in the Romney Court House records, and one reference states that he was given a deed for property in 1797. Jane Means we are told, was born in New Creek, a town in Mineral County, not far from Romney. Wm. and Jane Schrock had a family of twelve children, nine of whom lived to maturity. Late in life, we have been told in 1832, Wm. Schrock, Sr. and several of his grown children migrated to Ohio, and settled near what became the town of Westerville, about ten miles from Columbus. Matthew Westervelt laid out the village Westerville in July, 1839. About the time Wm. Schrock, Sr. and several of the children left Romney, Wm.'s oldest son went to Missouri. This was Perez Drue Schrock, who raised a family at Springfield, W. Va., family records tell, eight miles north of Romney.

A reference in a history of Franklin County, Ohio* says that Wm. Schrock was a hatter. It is probable that he performed a variety of jobs, as was the general rule in these early times. Most things were home made if it was possible to make them at home. We have no information about what kind of a person he was, or what he looked like, and very little about what he did. At Romney, it is interesting to note that two contemporaries of Wm. Schrock, Sr. were Maj. Isaac Means, and Mr. Perez Drew, because Wm. Schrock's oldest son was named Perez Drue Schrock, and Perez Drue Schrock's oldest son was named Isaac Means Schrock. Maj. Isaac Means was the father of Jane Means, Wm. Schrock Sr.'s wife. There has been no mention of any relation to Mr. Perez

* The History of Franklin and Pickaway Counties, Ohio, 1880,
p. 482

Drew, whose wife was named Mary. If Wm. Schrock, Sr.'s name is really Wm. Perez Schrock, the Drew and Schrock families may have been related or at least friends from a comparatively early date, but I have found no information at all regarding this. Drue and Drew have different spellings, but experience has shown me that pronunciation is sometimes more important. The court house records of Romney give the English spelling of Mr. Perez Drew's name; I have never seen the signature of Wm. Schrock Sr.'s son, Perez Drue Schrock.*

The United States has not always been divided into the present forty-eight boundaries, as is well known. In 1863, about one hundred years after Wm. Schrock, Sr. was born, West Virginia was formed from a part of Virginia. There were apparently divided sentiments regarding the creation of this new state, as is illustrated in the following quotation from Tyler's Magazine, 1924, Vol. V, pp. 247 - 251:

"Hampshire County

"When Virginia was despoiled by Lincoln of her territory through the creation of West Virginia, four counties especially Virginia, in that they were largely settled by people from the Shenandoah Valley and the old settled parts of the State were detached and lost to the Commonwealth. These were Berkely and Jefferson, at the lower end of the Shenandoah Valley, and Hampshire and Hardy Counties, occupying the Valley of the South Branch of the Potomac."

Romney, in Hampshire county, was still in the State of Virginia when Wm. and Jane Schrock lived there. In the introduction (written by Hu Maxwell) to the book "History of Hampshire County, West Virginia," by H. Maxwell, pub. 1897, is the following: "Hampshire county, the oldest in West Virginia, was formed in 1754. It then included nearly all the valley of the South branch, and its limits westward were not defined. The present county of Mineral and a portion of Morgan were then in Hampshire. In 1785 Hardy County, including the present territory of Grant and part of Pendleton, was taken from Hampshire. In 1820, Morgan county was created, taking part of its territory and in 1866 Mineral was formed from Hampshire. Thus the old county was reduced to its present limits."

On page 82 of the above book, the information is given that Hampshire county was formed from Augusta county, Va. The population of Romney, the county seat of Hampshire county, was 7, 346 in 1790. In 1830, the population was 11, 279. Good sized town. The population a hundred years later, in 1930 was

* It has been recently learned from a letter by Frank E. Schrock to Mabel Neal, dated July 19, 1959, that ----as nearly as I can determine from the letter--Lilpah Wadsworth and Perez Drew were married Feb. 16, 1772; Lilpah Drew died Jan. 3, 1778, in her 32nd year. This information was copied by Frank Schrock, 170 Fairview Ave., Westerville, Ohio, from a Bible, possibly the old Schrock Bible mentioned in this record, and sent to Mrs. Neal, of Linneus, Mo. Also copied from this Bible were several Schrock names which are included in this record.

1, 441; in 1950, 2, 059. Romney used to be about five times bigger than it is in 1958. Winchester, the county seat of Augusta County, Va., is about forty miles east of Romney.

The first census of Hampshire county was made in 1782, and I found no Schrock listed. I would have thought that if Wm. Schrock, Sr. was born in Romney and lived there until 1832, he would be in this census. He married his wife Jane, who was born near Romney, our date on this is 1789. It is conceivable that Wm. Schrock, Sr. came to Romney between 1782 and 1789. The first child of Wm. and Jane Schrock was born in 1791, and their youngest child was born in 1816. It is believed by most persons that all of their children were born at Romney, or at least in the vicinity.

Some family records made by the Westerville, Ohio, branch of the family note that Jane Ann Means, wife of Wm. Schrock, was born Oct. 8, 1769, and died Thursday morning, 1 o'clock, March 19, 1835, aged 65 yr., 5 mo., 11 da; buried at Romney, W. Va. Married May 7, 1789.

No one knows just where, at Romney, Jane Schrock is buried. The date of her death given above, 1835, is three years after the date her husband is supposed to have left with his children for Ohio. If these dates are correct, why would Wm. Schrock leave his wife in Romney and strike out with his pioneering children for Ohio, then a wilderness? The date 1832 seems to be correct, because the story of the marriage of one of Wm. Schrock Sr.'s sons, George W. Schrock, is elaborately recounted as taking place in W. Va. in 1832, on Sept. 27, immediately after which---in the space of a few days---George W. Schrock and his bride began the journey to Ohio. The date of Jane Schrock's death, unlike that of her husband Wm., seems to be unanimously agreed upon, altho to be sure there is no proof. If we accept the date 1835 along with everyone else however, it should be explained why Wm. Schrock, Sr. would leave his wife in Romney and go to Ohio.

Some of the notes made by the Westerville branch may provide the explanation, or may not. I shall quote these notes, because while they don't seem to agree in every smallest detail, they suggest a few basic facts. "Nancy Ann Schrock Eblen wife of Joseph Eblen, departed this life on Thursday morn at 2 o'clock the 21st of Jan., 1864, aged 71 yrs., 4 m., 6 da." And, "Joseph P. Eblen --d. on Tuesday morn at 7:30, Nov. 2, 1869, aged 75 yrs., 2 m., 25 d. Joseph Eblen left Hampshire County, Va., Nov. 1st, 1842 and arrived Nov. 11, 1842 in Blendon Township, Franklin Co., Ohio" (where Westerville is). "G. W. Schrock came earlier, in 1832---arriving on the 11th of the month." "At the same time," (1832 or 1842?) "Percz Drue, his elder brother (Percz was the elder brother of Thomas G.) "migrated with his family of 12 children by conestoga wagons to Sullivan County, Northern Missouri. On Jan. 8, 1833, he (Thomas G. Schrock) "was married to Christiana Ismiana Griswold. Thomas Gilmore Schrock died Jan. 31, 1888. Christiana Ismiana died Jan. 8, 1887." "Nancy Anna Schrock Eblen wife of Joseph P. Eblen departed this life on Thursday morning at 2 o'clock the 21st day of January, 1864, aged 72 yrs., 4 m., 9 d. She and her husband was thought to have come to Ohio with her father and his family in 1842." "Mary Ann Schrock was the 11th child, was born at Romney, West Va., Oct. 1, 1811. Came to Ohio probably in 1842, with other members of the family, and lived at the home of her brother George Washington, just west of Alum Creek, with her sisters Nancy E. Eblen and Sarah Jane Schrock, and Joseph P. Eblen, died Feb. 13, 1884. Never married. Sarah Jane and Mary Ann---died three days apart; double funeral." "Perez D. and Nancy Long Schrock left Hampshire County, Romney, West Va., Nov. 1, 1842, and arrived in Linn County later Sullivan County, Missouri, in Jan., 1843."

The above notes found among the few family records at Westerville were copied hurriedly by me, and at the time I was unable to make much sense from them. Some of the notes, at least, were made originally by Clarissa Arbell Schrock, probably about 1890, twenty years one way or the other; one note not given above is dated May 4, 1884. So these notes were for the most part made a good many years ago and at least deserve thoughtful attention.

The date 1842 stands out. On Nov. 1, of this year it is said Joseph P. Eblen and his wife Nancy (Schrock) Eblen left Hampshire Co., W. Va., for Ohio. With them was Nancy's father, Wm. Schrock, Sr., and some of Wm. Schrock, Sr.'s family. Perez Drue Schrock and his family also left W. Va. on this date, but bound for North Mo. If these statements may be taken for granted, the picture of the Schrock migration becomes much clearer.

It possibly happened somewhat as follows. Three of Wm. Perez and Jane (Means) Schrock's sons, George W., Thomas G., and Wm. III, left W. Va. and went to Ohio in Nov. of 1832. George's wife Rachel was with them. We know that the father of these three young men was not himself a young man at this time. I suggest that Wm. Schrock, Sr. did not leave his wife in 1832 to become a pioneer with his sons, but remained in W. Va. Three years later when his wife Jane died, he possibly desired to live in the home of one of his children at Romney. And in 1842, when the remainder of the family left W. Va., he went with them at this time to Ohio. After 1842, there are no known members of the family in W. Va.* It seems unlikely that the Perez Drue Schrock family would leave W. Va. the same day as the rest of the family and not go with them to Westerville, Ohio, which would have been on the way to Missouri.

There is another family tale that harmonizes with the above supposition, but doesn't seem quite so readily explainable if Wm. Schrock, Sr. left W. Va. in 1832.

The story goes that Wm. Schrock, Sr. purchased a Bible at Perez Drue Schrock's sale. It is said to be written in this Bible that Wm. Schrock, Sr. paid twelve shillings for the Bible, which was printed in England in 1769. The Bible is said to

* It has since been mentioned to me by Mrs. Mabel Neal, of Linneus, Mo. that there are at present some Schrock descendants in W. Va. (1959) have been willed by Wm. Schrock Sr.'s son, Geo. W. Schrock, to George W. Schrock, Jr. I have never seen this Bible and don't know where it may be, but if the above story is true, the sale referred to was undoubtedly Perez Drue Schrock's sale at Springfield, W. Va., made in 1842 when he pulled up stakes and left W. Va. If Wm. Schrock, Sr. left W. Va. ten years earlier and was in Ohio, he couldn't have attended the sale.

Wm. Schrock, Sr. spent the last years of his life at the home of his son, Geo. W. Schrock, near Westerville. He is buried in the Blendon Pioneer Cemetery about a mile and a half south of Westerville. The date of his death has not been definitely decided, the two dates available are 1847 and 1848.

The thread of the Schrock history divides during this period. Two branches of the family were formed, one at Westerville Ohio, and the other in north Missouri, in Linn and Sullivan Counties. The early history of the family is mostly legendary and much is unknown. From about 1850 to the present, however, records are more plentiful and the picture more complete. Sorting over these records I have sometimes thought they were too plentiful.

Living habits may change radically with the times, but people do not seem to be changed appreciably. At any rate this is a viewpoint suggested by a poem found in the family notes at Westerville, written by C. L. (or S.) Miller, evidently related to the family in some way. There is no date with the poem.

I fain would tell in wretched rhyme
How oft I think of thee;
And how all things do change in time,
All things! Yes, even you and me.

Don't you remember how each happy "creature,"
In Halcyon used to look;
And how we'd squint at our old teacher,
Behind each open book.

Missourians

Almost all of the Missouri Schrock's are descendent from Perez Drue Schrock and Nancy Long. Everyone seems to agree that Perez and Nancy Schrock and their family of children came to Missouri from West Virginia in 1843. There were, it is believed six sons and five daughters, and according to Merlin Schrock, a seventh son Joseph E., came later in 1843, on foot. The twelve children of Perez and Nancy Schrock ranged in age from about 7 to 29 at this time. Our record here has attempted to trace the descendants of this original family of seven sons and five daughters.

Euna Humphreys has understood that her grandfather, Isaac Means Schrock, was the first of the family to come to Missouri, in 1840 or 1841. This seems likely. Isaac Means Schrock was the oldest son of Perez Drue and Nancy (Long) Schrock. Euna Humphreys also added that she understood Isaac Means Schrock went back to West Virginia and brought the rest of the family to Missouri. This could very well have happened, and would explain several conflicting stories. Isaac Means Schrock married Charlotte Elizabeth Burns in 1841, and family records and county histories give the place of marriage as Missouri. This establishes Isaac's presence in Missouri before 1843, when the rest of the family came.

If Isaac Means Schrock came to Missouri first and then went back to bring the rest of his family, a story told by Maude Pipes, Euna Humphreys' sister, and a story told by Merlin Schrock, may be better understood.

Maude Pipes says she has heard her grandfather Isaac Means Schrock tell how the family made their last camp before arriving at their destination in Sullivan County, Mo. Perez Drue, Nancy, and their children including Isaac Means Schrock were present. This last camp was at the site of the present court house square of Milan, Mo., a few miles north. Maude Pipes relates that it was so cold at their camp, that before they finished drinking their coffee, a thin rim of ice would form around the edges of their cups. This story evidently refers to the family migration to Missouri in 1843, and Isaac Means Schrock was with the family. From this account, the family was evidently traveling southward.

A story told by Merlin Schrock tells that Isaac Means Schrock was the first of the family to arrive in Missouri, and that he came up the Missouri River to Brunswick, and then northward to Sullivan County. This evidently describes Isaac's route in 1840 or 41.

Maude Pipes and Euna Humphreys state that Isaac Means Schrock met his wife Charlotte on his way to Missouri, and Maude Pipes said it was at Springfield, although she does not recall which state. There is a Springfield in W. Va., where Perez Drue Schrock is said to have lived, and also a Springfield in Ohio and Illinois where Isaac may have met his wife. Isaac Schrock and the Burns family settled on joining farms in Missouri.

From among notes found at Westerville, Ohio, the Schrock family left W. Va., Nov. 1, 1842, and arrived in Sullivan Co., Mo., in January of 1843. The route they took is not known, but they may have stopped at Westerville, Ohio, on their way, to visit others of the family. From an unknown source, it is noted that Perez Drue Schrock and his family stopped for a short time in Iowa before coming southward to Missouri. With Perez and Nancy Schrock and their children on their way to Missouri, were Hannah Duckworth and her infant son, according to Ethel Clark. The Schrock family finally settled $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles south of what became Scottsville, and 5 miles south of the farm Isaac Means Schrock had settled two or three years previously. Scottsville no longer exists, but was located $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles south on the road from the present Schrock Cemetery, roughly about half way between the present towns of Browning and Milan, Sullivan County. A part of the old Perez Drue Schrock farm is now the farm of one of his descendants, Marion (Schrock) Lantz, daughter of Wilson E. Schrock.

The river on which Isaac Means Schrock is said to have traveled up to Brunswick was named by the Indians, who called her Big Muddy, or Missouri. The Missouri River still has a good deal of mud, if not more than there used to be. Mud isn't found only in the Missouri River. A considerable amount of the stuff may be found in the northern half of the state of Missouri. I wouldn't be surprised if this weren't one reason why the State of Missouri was named after the river. Or more exactly, after the mud in the river, perhaps. The mud of north Missouri is affectionately referred to by those living there as Missouri Mud, and no doubt Perez Drue Schrock and his family were familiar with it after they came to Missouri, although I haven't heard what they called it.

Perez Drue Schrock and his family are thought to have come to Missouri in at least two conestoga wagons, which were covered and equipped to ford streams and rivers. One of the wagon boxes was kept by Paul B. Hill, and is now believed to be in a museum in Missouri. This wagon box is described at the beginning of this history. A second wagon was said to have been in the possession of Joseph S. Schrock, but burned when the barn in which it was kept burned. It is possible that the Mississippi River was crossed on ice.

There are no accounts of the first winter Perez Drue Schrock and his family spent in Missouri, but it must have been somewhat rugged, as it must have been for Isaac Means Schrock two or three years earlier. There were few people in this part of Missouri in 1843. But neighborliness was common, and house raisings, corn huskings, and quilting bees were participated in by all who were able. Several men could cut trees and put up a log house in fairly short order.

Linn county, which originally included Sullivan county, was first settled in 1832, west of Linneus, and was first organized as a county in 1837. Sullivan county was formed from Linn Co. in 1845. The first settlers in Sullivan county were Dr. Jacob Holland and his son Robert W. Holland, in 1836. Linn and Sullivan counties were originally partly wooded, mainly along streams, and partly prairie land. Early settlers in this region found an abundance of wild game, which they considerably depended on for food. Interesting descriptions of the living habits of the Missouri pioneers are found in some of the county histories.

In West Virginia, Perez Drue Schrock and all of his brothers and sisters were born and raised at Romney, it is believed. Later Perez Drue Schrock according to most accounts settled at Springfield, nine miles north of Romney. Merlin Schrock said that Perez Drue Schrock drove a wagon in which he carried freight, and made a living from this source. This was before the days of trains and trucks. Merlin Schrock also said the early Schrock family was by no means wealthy. A history of Franklin County, Ohio, tells that Perez Drue taught his brother George W. Schrock the weaving trade. When Perez Drue came to Missouri, he operated a tannery in addition to his farm. I have heard that his tanning vats may still be seen on the farm of Marion Lantz, N. E. of the Hoover Cemetery. The History of Adair, Sullivan, Putnam and Schuyler Counties, Missouri, pub. 1888, p. 41, says that "At the time of the organization of the county (in 1845....T. R.) Paris Schrock had a tannery near where Scottsville now is, and Joseph Grim had one about two and a half miles west of Milan, on Main Locust Creek." Perez Drue Schrock's first name is misspelled above, but it is pronounced almost the same as the city of France, Paris, accented on the first syllable. This is also the correct pronunciation in the Spanish language.

Family records mention that Perez Drue Schrock's wife Nancy Long came from Kentucky. Just when and where Perez Drue and Nancy were married is not known, but it probably was about 1813, at or near Romney, W. Va.

In 1815, Sarah Long, who was unmarried, recorded her will in Hampshire County, West Virginia. This will mentions her mother, Elizabeth Long; her sister, Nancy Schrock, and her sister, Rebecca; the witnesses were Joseph Long, Mary Ann Riley, and Mary Ann Means.

Perez Drue and Nancy Schrock were both about 49 when they came to Missouri. Perez Drue Schrock died in 1867, about ninety one years ago at this writing, and no one that I know of ever remembers seeing him. The pictures we have of Perez and Nancy are paired in identical frames, and are printed on glass, somewhat as mirrors are made. These original pictures are in the possession of Ethel Clark. Ethel Clark said to me that she recognizes Nancy Schrock's picture, and it is presumed that the other picture is of her husband, Perez Drue Schrock. Alfred Humphreys remarked that several years ago someone exclaimed that these pictures were of Perez and Nancy Schrock, but Alfred Humphreys, who has done considerable research in family history said he didn't believe it was a positive identification. However, I assume that the pictures are very likely of Perez and Nancy, further evidence may arise in the future.

Ethel Clark says that as a girl, on visits to her grandfather, J. Wilson Schrock, she would sometimes meet her great-grandmother, Nancy, who was also visiting there. Nancy Schrock usually wore a lace cap. Nancy smoked a corn cob pipe, and Ethel Clark said she used to lite Nancy's pipe for her.

A story about Nancy's pipe is told by Maude Pipes. Maude Pipes said that Nancy Long Schrock, in defiance of the convention, smoked a pipe. She said Nancy's pipe smoke bothered Perez Drue, who didn't smoke. Perez Drue and Nancy were living for at least a few of their later years with their son Isaac and his family, according to Maude Pipes. Nancy would sit on one side of the fireplace and smoke, and Perez Drue would be on the other side of the fireplace, gaging.

Ethel Clark understands that Perez Drue Schrock died on his farm north east of the Hoover Cemetery. His wife, Nancy, then went to live at the home of George W. and Harriett Ann (Schrock) Gibson, and P. D. Schrock, Jr. took over the old home of Perez and Nancy Schrock. Nancy lived the remainder of her life at the George Gibson home, southeast of Browning.

Perez Drue and Nancy (Long) Schrock are buried in the Schrock Cemetery, between Reger and Browning, Mo.

One of Ethel Clark's memories has a somewhat ironic nature. When she was six years old, her grandfather, J. Wilson Schrock one morning said he thought he would go visit mother. So he got on his horse and started out for the Gibson home where his mother, Nancy Schrock lived. Shortly after he left, a messenger arrived saying that Nancy Schrock was to be buried in the Schrock Cemetery that day. Ethel Clark and her family went to the funeral by wagon, and her grandfather, Wilson Schrock, went on horseback.

The church at the Schrock Cemetery was moved from the old town of Scottsville. It originally had two stories. Today, it is called the Schrock Church. There is no sign of Scottsville, once a thriving village, except a school house, the only building left standing.

Most of Perez Drue and Nancy (Long) Schrock's twelve children settled between the towns of Linneus and Milan, in Linn and Sullivan counties. The descendants are now widely scattered.

FIRST GENERATION

Generation I.

William Perez Schrock, Feb. 5, 1763 - Dec. 21, 1848*¹ and Jane Ann (or Anna) Means, Oct. 8, 1769 - Mar. 19, 1835 married May 7, 1789. 12 children.

William Perez Schrock is usually referred to as Wm. Schrock, Sr. He is the earliest known member of the Schrock family. It is thought that he was probably born at or near Winchester, Va. His wife Jane (Means) Schrock was born at New Creek, Mineral County, W. Va., according to family records, and was the daughter of Maj. Isaac (son of Isaac) and Nancy Means, according to court house records at Romney, W. Va.*² Wm. Schrock, Sr. and Jane Means raised a family of 12 children at Romney, W. Va., of whom 9 lived to maturity. At the time the Schrocks lived in Romney, W. Va. was still a part of the State of Virginia.

Jane (Means) Schrock died in 1835 and is probably buried at Romney. Wm. Schrock, Sr. is known to have gone to Ohio late in life, where he spent his last years in the home of his son, Geo. W. Schrock. Wm. Schrock, Sr. is buried in the Blendon Pioneer Cemetery, near Westerville, Ohio. It is supposed that he left Romney after his wife Jane died, and that he traveled to Ohio with some of his children in 1842.

The Schrock name is German, and family tales say that the family came to America from either Germany, France, or Alsace, Lorraine.*³ It is not known who the immigrant ancestor was, possibly it was Wm. Schrock, Sr.

Wm. Schrock, Sr. and Jane Ann (Means) Schrock were the grandparents of a great many descendants. There were at first two main branches of their children, one in Ohio and the other in Missouri. In this record we have been primarily concerned with the Missouri branch, composed of Perez Drue and Nancy (Long) Schrock and their descendants.

A more complete account of the early history of the Schrock family has been written on previous pages in this book.

*² A synopsis of the will of Isaac Means is given in Early Records, Hampshire County, Virginia, Now, West Virginia, privately printed in 1939, on page 125. This will lists Isaac's wife Nancy, and seven children (there are said to be sixteen) who were: Robert, Ephraim, married Hulda Thomas;..(Ephraim was the youngest child); Isaac; Sally Myers; Betsy Myers; Margaret Taylor, wife of Edward Taylor; and Jane Schrock, who has a daughter, Betsy. (Mrs. Mildred Tallant suggests that Betsy may have been a grand-daughter.) This will was probated on April 20, 1818.

*3 The "History of Franklin and Pickaway Counties, Ohio," p. 482 (1880), says that William Schrock was of Irish descent, while Carl M. Schrock tells me that William was German and merely sailed from Ireland.

SECOND GENERATION

Generation I. William Schrock, Sr. and Jane Ann Means

Generation II. Children of Wm. Schrock, Sr. and Jane Ann Means

1. Nancy E., Sept. 21, 1791 - Jan. 21, 1864 and Joseph P. Eblen, Aug. 8, 1794 - Nov. 2, 1869 married _____. No children.

Joseph and Nancy Eblen are said to have traveled from W. Va. to Westerville, Ohio, in 1842.

Nancy's middle name has once been given as Ann, but most sources give the middle initial E. Another birthdate of Nancy's was found, Sept. 12, 1792, but this date doesn't agree with the birthdates of other children.

2. Eliza, June 12, 1792 - Jan. 12, 1846 Single.

Eliza Schrock is reported to be buried in the Blendon Pioneer Cemetery, near Westerville, Ohio.

3. Perez Drue, Jan. 1, 1794 - July 16, 1867 and Nancy Long, Jan. 11, 1794 - June 8, 1880
married _____. 16 children.

The 16 children of Perez and Nancy Schrock and their descendants will be traced in later sections of this book. A biographical sketch of Perez and Nancy Schrock is found in the "Beginnings".

4. Isaac, Feb. 12, 1796 - April 21, 1800

5. William 2nd, June 18, 1797 - March 27, 1800

6. Marion, Jan. 22, 1800 - July 31, 1800

Isaac, William 2nd, and Marion are probably buried at Romney, W. Va.

7. Catherine (Kitty) April 30, 1801 - _____ and Ephraim Grace, _____ - _____ married _____. Had 5 or 6 children, lived near Humphreys, Mo.

Catherine and Ephraim Grace had a daughter, Margaret A. who married William H. Glaze.

8. William 3rd, Jan. 1, 1803 - Sept. 23, 1867 (1876?)
and Elizabeth (Betsy) Gulic, Nov. 2, 1810 - July 24, 1896 married _____. 14 children.

William Schrock 3rd moved to Ohio with some of the family, probably in 1832, and settled near what became Westerville. His wife, Elizabeth is thought to have been born in Hampshire County, West Virginia. She was a daughter of Elisha and _____ Gulic.

Three of the children of William 3rd and Elizabeth Schrock were Ephraim, Matilda, and Nancy Jane, all three of whom died in youth with typhoid fever, in 1854.

The other children of William 3rd and Elizabeth were: Mary Catherine, Joseph, Martha Ann, William Harrison, Henry Thomas, Homer, Elizabeth, Rosetta, Walter, Ida, and Zelpha.

One source says that Wm. was born at Green Spring or Green Spring Run, W. Va. which is located a few miles north of Romney on early maps.

William 3rd and Elizabeth Schrock are said to be buried in the Blendon Pioneer Cemetery, near Westerville, Ohio.

9. George Washington, Dec. 12, 1804 - Dec. 25, 1877 and Rachel V. Inskeep, Dec. 4, 1811 - Sept. 2, 1879 married Sept. 27, 1832. 10 children.

Some other material has been found besides that in the sketch. It is not certain where Rachel Inskeep (pronounced Inskip) was born; three places are given: Romney, W. Va.; New Creek, W. Va.; and Green Spring, or Green Spring Run, W. Va. Rachel (Inskeep) Schrock was a daughter of Joseph (son of James and Sarah) Inskeep, and was one of a family of five children: Elizabeth Wilson, Samuel Inskeep, Rachel (or Racheal) Schrock, John Inskeep, and James Goldsmith.

George W. Schrock at first rented property about a mile south of Westerville, and later bought this land. He finally owned about 500 acres near Westerville. The home passed into the hands of his son, Alfred Taylor Schrock, who married Alice Moody.

The two children of George W. and Rachel Schrock not given in the sketch are Mollie, the third child, who married John Clark; and Matilda, the tenth child, who died at seven or eight. George W., Jr., was the fifth child. Clara Arabell, the eighth child, married James Thomas Hamilton, of Missouri.

George W. and Rachel Schrock are reportedly buried in the Blendon Pioneer Cemetery, near Westerville, Ohio.

10. Thomas Gilmore, April 22, 1806 - Jan. 31, 1888 and Christiana Ismiana Griswold, _____, 1808 - Jan. 8, 1887 married Jan. 8, 1833. At least 5 children.

Thomas Gilmore Schrock came to Ohio with others of the Schrock family, probably in 1832. In 1834, he cleared and settled on a farm in Mifflin township, a few miles south of Westerville.

He married Christiana Griswold, a daughter of Isaac and Ursulla Griswold, who were one of the first two families to settle in Blendon township, in 1806, near what became the town of Westerville. Christiana Schrock was one of the twenty one members of the first Presbyterian Church in Mifflin township, in 1840, and at some time was appointed an elder of this church.

The names of five of the children of Thomas G. and Christiana I. Schrock are: Isaac W., Orentia, (or Orintha), Ursulla Jane, Editha, and Lacylum.

Thomas G. Schrock is buried in Ohio.

11. Mary Ann, Oct. 1, 1811 - Feb. 15, 1884 Single.

12. Sarah Jane, June 9, 1816 - Feb. 11, 1884 Single.

Mary Ann and Sarah Jane Schrock came to Ohio with some of their family, probably in 1842. They died within a few days of each other and had a double funeral. It is said they are buried in the Blendon Pioneer Cemetery, near Westerville, Ohio.

13. There may have been a 13th child, Thad Schrock.

THIRD GENERATION

Generation I. William Schrock, Sr. and Jane Means

Generation II. 3. Perez Drue Schrock and Nancy Long

Generation III. Children of 3, Perez Drue Schrock and Nancy Long

1. Isaac Means, July 8, 1814 - Aug. 27, 1894 and Charlotte Elizabeth Burns, Feb. 5, 1822 - Dec. 26, 1893 married Sept. 30, 1841. 13 children.

Isaac and Charlotte Schrock are buried in the Schrock Cemetery, between Browning and Milan, Mo.

2. William, Jan. 1, 1816 - Sept. 10, 1834
William Schrock is probably buried in W. Va.

3. Samuel Long, Aug. 23, 1817 - Feb. 5, 1905 Single.

4. Joseph Eblen, Aug. 7, 1819 - June 30, 1892 and Mary Gilmer, June 1, 1829 - Sept. 3, 1901 married Feb. 26, 1846. 13 children.

Joseph and Mary Gilmer are buried in the Wesley Chapel Cemetery, near Purdin, Mo.

5. Susanna J., Nov. 25, 1820

We have no other information about Susanna Schrock. She may have died in infancy, or may have lived either in W. Va. or Ohio. It is not believed she came to Mo.

6. Perez Drue, Jr. (P. D.) Mar. 27, 1822 - Dec. 25, 1910 and Martha Anstes Minnis, 1st wife, Mar. 29, 1827 - Dec. 22, 1852 married Feb. 15, 1849. 1 child.
Sarah Croslyn Talley, 2nd wife, Dec. 25, 1839 - April 21, 1923 married Nov. 29, 1854. 12 children.

P. D. and Martha A. Schrock are buried in the Hoover Cemetery, near Browning, Mo.

7. Elizabeth Jane, July 15, 1823 - Feb. 10, 1903
(or Spring, 1907?)
and Jonathan Stone, April 10, 1815 - Feb. 22, 1897 married June 24, 1875. 14 children.

Jonathan Stone is buried about 6 miles west of Centerville, Iowa on Highway No. 2 in the Felkner Cemetery. The inscription on the grave marker reads: Died Feb. 22, 1897, aged 81 yr., 10 mo., 12 da. His grave is the only marked Stone family grave in this cemetery. No others of the family are believed buried there.

Elizabeth J. Stone is buried at Achillis? Kansas.

8. Andrew Jackson, Dec. 19, 1824 - Feb. 5, 1903 and Mary Ann Johnson, Dec. 4, 1834 - Dec. 14, 1873 married Jan. 3, 1854. 4 children.
Andrew Jackson and Mary A. Schrock are buried in the Wesley Chapel Cemetery, near Purdin, Mo.
9. Rebecca Catherine, Oct. 19, 1826 - Sept. 14, 1911 and William F. Gibson, June 7, 1810 - _____ (ca. 1890 - 1894) married Oct. 3, 1860. 3 children.
William F. and Rebecca C. Gibson are buried in Wesley Chapel Cemetery, near Purdin, Mo. There are no grave markers.
Mrs. Iva Gibson believes that William F. Gibson died in the Spring of 1891.
10. James Wilson (J. Wilson), Aug. 17, 1828-Aug. 23, 1902 and Sarah (Sally) Sophia Burns, April 19, 1829 - Oct.
2, 1895 married Dec. 4, 1850. 5 children.
James Wilson and Sarah Schrock are buried in the Schrock Cemetery, near Browning, Mo.
11. Harriett Ann, April 23, 1830 - April 3, 1909 and George Washington Gibson, March 1, 1837 - March 12, 1920 married Oct. 24, 1854. 6 children.
George W. and Harriett A. Gibson are buried in the Jenkins Cemetery, S. E. of Browning, Mo.
12. Arabella, Sept. 30, 1831 - Oct. 19, 1862
It is not at this writing known, but it is supposed that Arabella remained single. The month and day of her death are taken from a note of J. S.
Schrock's, which reads: Arbelle M. Schrock, born Sept.
30, 1831, died Oct. 19, 1862.
Another spelling of her name is Arabelle.
13. Margaret Ann, May 4, 1833 - _____ and William Rogers, April 30, 1827 - _____ married _____, 1864. 6 or 7 children, 3 of whom lived to maturity.
Wm. and Margaret Rogers are probably buried near Medicine Lodge, Kansas.
14. Robert Lee, Dec. 31, 1834 - Oct. __, 1911 and Lucy Ann Thurlow, July __ (15th?) 1844 - _____
married _____. 3 children.
Robert and Lucy Schrock are buried at Enid, Okla.
15. Sarah Loretta, Nov. 1, 1836 - _____ and Robert Henry Burns, July 9, 1837 - _____ married Jan. 22, 1857. 4 children. (7 or 8 children?)
16. Evaline Virginia, July 14, 1838 - Sept. 15, 1838
Evaline V. Schrock is probably buried in W. Va.

Joseph E. Schrock

A personal sketch of Joseph E. Schrock and family.

There are a few memories of Joseph E. Schrock, his wife, Mary and their way of life. I am indebted to Mr. Burt Schrock, Mrs. Mary White, and Mr. Willis Schrock for most of the following information.

Mrs. Mary White and Mrs. Elpha Mills recall that Joseph always got up at 4:00 A. M., built a fire in the fireplace, and then called the boys to do the chores. Joseph's business was that of a farmer. He was considerably occupied in directing the work of his sons and one or two hired hands on his farm. The old history of Linn County, I recall, mentions Joseph Schrock's name in connection with progressive farming methods introduced in the county, and states that he was active in promoting farming progress in the county.

Joseph was apparently a serious man, not interested much in frivolity. He was all business, according to Burt Schrock. He seems however to have had a dry sense of wit. He was thrifty to a marked degree. He became a man of some means, and was able to provide several of his children with about eight or ten thousand dollars in cash, or land of equivalent value. Those children who stayed in Missouri, generally speaking, received land, and those who moved to other regions received money. According to Mary White "He left or gave about a 200 acre farm to the following children: Jack, Dora, Mollie, Taylors, Dave, and Lee. I don't know about Sam or Joe. Ed, Willis, and Jim, who were in the West, received about $8,000.00 cash each." For some time he was a member of the board of the Browning Bank.

Joseph E. Schrock in his later years was presiding judge at the county court at Linneus. Three judges served then, as now, one from the eastern half of the county, one from the western half, and a presiding judge. The duties of the judges were primarily the administrative affairs of the county, as distinguished from law enforcement. There are several accounts of Joseph's riding to and from the court house on horse back or by wagon. In muddy weather he would usually ride horseback. One account from Herman Schrock says that he rode a black mare for a long time. On his trips to Linneus he would sometimes take along one or two of his grandchildren. Burt Schrock says that frequently it was Burt's sister, Della, or sometimes, Nellie. Some of the grandsons occasionally rode in back of him on his horse when he rode horseback. The grandchildren sometimes complained they wished grandpaw would hurry up to make the return trip.

One of the purposes of Joseph's trips to Linneus in his last two or three years, according to Burt Schrock, was to receive treatments for a slow cancerous growth on his head. He also suffered from palsy.

On his trips to Browning, he would often distribute the mail to farms along the way. The old road from Linneus to Browning went $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles west of the present town of Purdin. There was no mail service at that time except for volunteer service, such as Joseph's.

Burt Schrock tells that Joseph Schrock had the first carriage in Linn County. It was a buckboard, without side draperies. At that time there were only a few wagons of any type in the region.

Joseph usually had one or two hired hands on the farm. Mary White and Elpha Mills have said that at one time he had three Negro families working for him, living on the farm.

Every morning before breakfast, Joseph held devotionals attended by the family and the helpers. The boys occasionally would be out all night, at a dance, but they were expected to be present for the morning devotionals. Joseph had the habit of surveying those present to be quite sure everyone was there. The family also had prayer meetings on Sunday afternoons. Positively no work was done on Sunday, except the few chores which had to be done every day. The Schrocks were Southern Methodists and attended Wesley Chapel.

There is little doubt about the religious sincerity of Joseph Schrock, or his desire to provide good religious training for his children. My mother, Mary Reed, whose father was one of Joseph's sons, related a story of her youth to me, which goes about as follows: "Mother and I were trying to coax Daddy to go to church with us one Sunday morning, and I was coaxing pretty hard. Then, finally, after no success, mother said, 'Oh, let him alone, the poor man had to go to church every Sunday when he was a boy'".

Dances with fiddle music, sometimes a piano also, were usually held in homes. Most all the families held a dance now and then. (There were of course other social activities, such as corn huskings, quiltings, etc.) When I asked Willis Schrock what his father, Joseph thought of dancing, Willis answered, "He didn't think much of it."

When asked what kind of a person Mary Gilmer Schrock was, Mrs. May Schrock said immediately, "She was the nicest, quiet, even tempered, and perfect person. She was just a perfect lady." Mr. Walter Taylor recalled that she was a patient woman. "She raised alot of boys."

The Joseph Schrock family, like many in that day, I imagine bought brown sugar by the barrel; butchered their own meat; washed, carded, and spun their wool; knitted their socks; and made their blankets. This information is given by Mary White.

She goes ahead to say that Wesley Gilmer, Mary's brother, never married, and so stayed most of the time with the Schrock family, helping a good deal with the children. Dora, daughter of Joseph and Mary, did much of the family sewing. Lee, Joseph, and Mary's youngest son, stayed with his mother until she died, which was nine years after his father died.

The question of taking care of the children must have been a big one when there were thirteen children.

Mary White notes that Joseph and Mary Schrock's oldest grandchild was about the same age as their own youngest child. W. Dee Schrock was born in 1874, and Lee Schrock was born in 1872.

Willis Schrock, son of Joseph and Mary, tells that the young folks generally went to church, much as young folks go to the movies for amusement today. The kids played town ball, which is a game similiar to base ball, and went to school at the Gooch school house. Charlie Johnson was Willis Schrock's teacher. According to Willis, a student who finished the eighth grade satisfactorily was equipped to go into business.

Willis mentioned that the family was usually busy, and there wasn't time or need for many present day activities. And, that the folks in the old times enjoyed living about as much as folks do now. There weren't so many things to do, but they kept busy, took their time, and knew their neighbors a little better perhaps.

While looking over some records at the court house in Linneus, Mo., I found a few references to Joseph E. Schrock, son of Perez and Nancy Schrock.

County Court Record, Linn Co., Mo. Vol. F, p. 364

"Joseph Schrock----Linn County----It is ordered by the court here that Jos. Schrock be allowed Thirteen dollars for service in taking care of bridge timbers and that the Clerk hereat draw a warrant for the same."

Vol. G, p. 118

"Joseph Schrock----a/c be allowed----It is ordered by the Court here that Joseph Schrock be allowed Eighteen and 35/100 dollars for services as special bridge commissioner, Eleven and 60/100 dollars received by him for old bridge timbers to be deducted from said amount and a warrant drawn for the remainder."

Vol G, p. 119

"It is ordered by the Court here that Joseph Schrock be allowed twelve and 50/100 dollars for balance on bridge at Browning and that a warrant be drawn for the same."

Vol. G, p. 546

"Thursday January 2nd, 1879----Term of the County Court of Linn County Missouri begin and held at the Court House at Linneus in said county on Thursday Jan. 2nd 1879, were present Judges Schrock, Cash and Cochran, B A Jones Clerk of Said Court and John P. Wesley Chapel Cemetery

Wesley Chapel Cemetery is located near the town of Purdin, Missouri, and is the oldest church cemetery in the immediate vicinity. Wesley Chapel was probably built in 1853 or soon after, on two acres of land sold to the Methodist Episcopal Church South for the consideration of $4.00. The Warranty deed is recorded at the Linn County court house, book E, page 369. The date of the deed is Jan. 25, 1853, recorded Feb. 18, 1853. This land was sold by William and Rachel Gibson, who were themselves Methodists. The trustees of the church were David Alexander, William Alexander, Joseph Schrock, Joseph B. Fields, and William Gibson. The land was in the N. W. quarter of Section 32, Township 60, Range 20. Today the Wesley Chapel Cemetery is in the center of a pasture or field, about one mile N. E. of Purdin. It is fenced, but most of the cemetery is in weeds, and many of the stones are fallen over or broken. The present fence does not enclose all of the original two acres, but it is thought that all of the burying area is enclosed. It has been estimated that probably half of the persons buried here have grave markers, half do not. Wesley Chapel was the first public cemetery in this locality.

According to Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schrock of Browning, Mo., Wesley Chapel Church was torn down probably in 1893. The lumber was used to make two rooms of the first house east of the tracks on Highway C in Purdin, on the north side of the road. The Methodist Church in Purdin was built several years before. The Wesley Chapel membership changed their meetings to the Purdin Methodist Church when the Purdin Church was built. Wesley Chapel stood unused several years before it was torn down.

Wesley Chapel stood in the N. W. part of what remains Wesley Chapel Cemetery, although since the location of the fence has been changed, the church probably did not stand on the ground now enclosed by the fence. The cemetery was re-fenced about 1935-40 by Joseph S. Schrock and probably others. There are no lots in Wesley Chapel. Graves are placed without plan.

It was pointed out to me by my brother, T. B. Reed, that there are still faint traces of an old road which ran N. E. in a reasonably straight line, and went close by the cemetery. This is no doubt the road referred to in the deed to the property. "Begining on the county road near the creek bottom at a stone and runing with said road North East 26 roods, thence 13 roods South East, thence 26 roods North West, thence 13 roods to the place of begining,....." "Roods" obviously is "rods". There seems to be some confusion as to the directions above, but at least it is apparent that the road referred to in the quote is running diagonally in a N. E. direction. Until traces of the old diagonal road were noticed, it was impossible to fathom this, because today all the roads around the cemetery run north and south or east and west.

5. Susan Wilson, Sept. 24, 1849 - April 11, 1915
and Lewis Philip (L. Philip) Reger, Dec. 18, 1848 -
Jan. 9, 1896 married April 6, 1870. 6 children.
Lewis P. and Susan Reger are buried at Reger, Mo.
6. Andrew Burns, Feb. 9, 1851 - Nov. 6, 1861 Andrew Schrock was killed when he was a boy by a farm accident. One version of the story tells that he fell off a wagon load of corn and was run over.
Another story says that Andrew was trying to open a gate to let a team of oxen and a wagon load of corn through, when the oxen pushed through the gate to get their feed, and crushed Andrew against the fence.
7. Nancy Hester (N. Hester), July 29, 1853 - Feb. 10, 1930 and Alonzo B. Bond, Jan. 24, 1847 - _____, 1928 married Dec. 6, 1871. 1 adopted daughter.
Alonzo and Nancy H. Bond are buried in the Odd Fellows Cemetery, Linneus, Mo.

8. Rebecca Catherine, July 6, 1855 - Nov. 26, 1872
Rebecca Catherine Schrock was engaged to John Rogers and had made wedding plans, when she contracted pneumonia from which she died.
9. Isaac Byron, Aug. 22, 1857 - Feb. 13, 1881
Isaac Byron Schrock is buried in the Schrock Cemetery, I believe, near Browning, Mo. Isaac was a musician who played the organ. He died from white swelling, a tuberculous inflammation of the knee.
10. Martha Ellen, Sept. 30, 1859 - Sept. 9, 1912 and Clarence Hord, _____ - _____ married Sept. 16, 1880. 2 children.
Clarence and Martha Hord are buried at Creed, Colo.

and William Samuel Benfield, _____ - _____ married Feb. 19, 1880. 4 children.
Wm. S. and Lucy B. Benfield lived at Medicine Lodge, Kansas.
12. Cora Alice, Dec. 27, 1864 - March 5, 1909 and Orra Minter Reger, Feb. 3, 1864 - April 23, 1945 married Sept. 28, 1882. 1 child.
Orra and Cora Reger are buried at Reger, Mo.
13. Ida, Dec. 5, 1866 - May 31, 1934 and John Brown (Jack) Hill, July 9, 1854 - _____ married June 8, 1887. 4 children.
Ida did not have a middle name, according to Mrs. George Kent.
Ida was born on the Isaac Schrock farm, near the present Schrock Cemetery. She and Jack Hill were married at her home.
Jack Hill was the son of James Harvey and Alte-zera Searcy Hill, and was born at Walnut Dale Farm, Sullivan County, Mo.
Jack and Ida Hill are buried in the Duffield Cemetery, Sullivan County, Mo., near Mt. Zion Christian Church.

Generation I. William Schrock, Sr. and Jane Means
 Generation II. 3. Perez Drue Schrock and Nancy Long
 Generation III. 4. Joseph Eblen Schrock and Mary Gilmer

Generation IV. Children of 4, Joseph Eblen Schrock and Mary Gilmer.

1. Andrew Jackson (Jack) Feb. 3, 1847 - Sept. 10, 1938 and Eliza Jane Jacobs, April 20, 1853 - Jan. 11, 1924 married July 18, 1872. 13 children.

Andrew Jackson and Eliza J. Schrock are buried in the Riverside Park Cemetery, Spokane, Wash.

Jack Schrock and his family came from N. Missouri to Quincy, Washington, in 1911. They lived at Quincy about 20 years. Later, they lived at Spokane, Wash.

2. Arabelle, Sept. 22, 1848 - Sept. 9, 1887 and George Washington Taylor, July 6, 1843 - Feb. 1, 1920 married Dec. 27, 1871. 5 children.

Arabelle and George Washington Taylor are buried in the Jenkins Cemetery, near Browning, Mo.

Dora (Schrock) Street spells her sister's name Arabelle, and does not give any middle initial; "Arabella" is the spelling on her grave stone.

(The Gilmer Bible, in possession of Elpha Mills, Woodburn, Ore., gives the marriage date as Dec. 25, 1871. The Taylor Bible, in possession of Elmer Taylor Browning, Mo., gives it as Dec. 27, 1871. Some notes of Joseph S. Schrock lists it as Dec. 25, 1871.)

3. James Perez, Sept. 14, 1850 - Sept. 18, 1938 and Sarah Ellen Cokerham, Sept. 11, 1859 - Jan. 21, 1907 married Sept. 16, 1883. 7 children.

James Perez Schrock came to Washington by covered wagon in 1883. He was a wheat farmer near Hartline, Wash. Stories tell that he was sometimes disposed to recite the alphabet backwards for the amusement of his children.

4. Davis Green, Feb. 23, 1852 - Aug. 17, 1935 and Sarah Louisa (Sally) Rayburn, Dec. 6, 1855 - Feb. 23, 1933 married Feb. 23, 1873. 3 children.

Davis Green and Sarah Louisa Schrock are buried in the Purdin Cemetery, Purdin, Mo.

5. Orintha, July 28, 1855 - Aug. 22, 1869
Orintha Schrock is buried in the Wesley Chapel Cemetery, near Purdin, Mo.

Dora Street did not list any middle initial for her sister, Orintha.

6. Isadora (Dora), May 19, 1857 - April 25, 1946 and Hiram Hutson Street, April 14, 1856 - July 13, 1937 married Oct. 6, 1886. 2 children died in infancy.

Hiram H. and Dora Street are buried in the Purdin Cemetery, Purdin, Mo.

7. Edward Forth, July 19, 1859 - April 3, 1949 and Anor Avis Bernard, May 16, 1875 - May 11, 1964 married April 7, 1897. 3 children.

Edward F. Schrock came to Washington by covered wagon. He raised cattle near Okanogan, Wash.

Anor Schrock was born in California.

Edward F. and Anor Schrock are buried in the La Follette Cemetery, Almira, Wash.

8. Price V., March 16, 1862 - April 18, 1879
Price V. Schrock is buried in the Wesley Chapel Cemetery, near Purdin, Mo.

9. Joseph S., Jan. 14, 1864 - Nov. 18, 1949 and Roberta (Bertie) Jenkins, Feb. 16, 1865 - Jan. 29, 1938 married May 9, 1909. No children.

Joseph S. Schrock was previously married to Cora Whittier, who had a daughter by a former marriage, Florence Whittier. Jos. S. was Cora's 2nd husband, she was his first wife. Cora at one time lived at Walla Walla, Wash.

Joseph S. and Bertie Schrock are buried at American Falls, Idaho.

One source gives the birthdate of Bertie Jenkins as Feb. 16, 1864.

Joseph S. Schrock had a middle name, but it has remained a mystery at this writing.

10. Samuel Sigmund, Nov. 24, 1865 - Nov. 11, 1943 and Mollie Christ (or Crist) 1st wife, Aug. 1, 1867-
Aug. 27, 1892 married Oct. 22, 1890. 1 child.
Emma Eliza Tully, 2nd wife, Nov. 11, 1869 - Dec. 17, 1929 married Feb. 27, 1895. 1 child.

Mary (Schrock) Reed and Joseph S. Schrock spell Christ with an "h", which is supposed to be most likely correct; I have been unable to contact any of the Christ family, who all moved from Mo.

Emma Eliza Schrock is buried in Rocky Ford, Colo. Samuel S., Mollie and their daughter, Tena V. Schrock, are buried in the Jenkins Cemetery, near Browning, Mo.

Samuel S. Schrock had a farm 12 miles north west of Browning, Mo. In 1904 (or 1905), when his daughter Mary V. was seven years old, the family moved to Garden City, Kan., because of Emma Eliza's health.

Sam Schrock spent his last years in the home of his daughter, at Lansing, Ill., and then at Hammond, Ind.

11. Willis Elmore, Nov. 15, 1867 and Laura Belle Brackney, Dec. 24, 1869 - Jan. 18, 1922 married Sept. 21, 1902. 5 children.

A funeral notice of Laura B. Schrock gives her birthdate as Dec. 23, 1871. This notice is in possession of Carmel and Donald Taylor, Spokane, Wash. It is thought that the day, the 23rd, may be incorrect but the year 1871 might possibly be correct.

Willis E. Schrock came to Spokane, Wash., from Linn County, Mo., in 1888.

I seem to remember that Willis Schrock told me he farmed at Almira, Wash , for about forty years. I may be wrong.

Laura B. Schrock is buried in the Almira Cemetery, Almira, Wash.

12. Mary (Mollie) Lydia, July 26, 1870 - June 18, 1952 and James William Gibson, Nov. 29, 1868 - July 9, 1951 married Dec. 21, 1892. 3 children.

James W. and Mollie Gibson are buried in the Belle Passi Cemetery, Woodburn, Ore.

James Gibson and family came to the Northwest in 1907, on the train. They lived at Doty, Wash., for a year, and then moved to Oregon. In 1923, they moved to Woodburn, Ore.

13. George Lee (G. Lee), Sept. 26, 1872 - Sept. 1, 1954 and Elsie Anna Knifong, Dec. 30, 1878 married June 27, 1904. 3 children.

Lee Schrock often signed his name "L. G. Schrock". Lee Schrock was a cattle and wheat farmer at Okanogan, Wash. Elsie Anna Schrock was born at Browning, Mo.

The first nine children of Joseph and Mary Schrock were born in the log house which had been the home of James and Elizabeth Gilmer, on the present Merlin Schrock farm, near Purdin, Mo. The graves of James and Elizabeth Gilmer are located near their home. Part of the other four children were born on the same farm, a short distance north from the above house, also in a log home, and the last of the children on a nearby farm. Later, the Schrock family moved to a farm about $\frac{1}{2}$ way between the present towns of Browning and Purdin, Linn Co., along the C. B. & Q. Railroad, now the farm of Dr. Grice and son.

The above information about the location of Joseph and Mary Schrock's homes was told to me by Merlin Schrock, and is repeated here as well as I can remember it. Several people have pointed out the farm between Purdin and Browning, now owned by Dr. Grice and son, saying it was the old home of Joseph Schrock.

SCHROCK INDEX OF FIRST NAMES

GENERATIONS I THRU V ONLY

(See also 'Index of Last Names!')

Index of first names of Schrock, generations I thru V only. After the name of each person is a guide number for finding the person in the history. The first part of the guide number is a Roman numeral, which shows in what generation a person is found. The first generation comprises the first section of the book, the second generation the second section, and so on. The second part of the guide number is formed by combining the numbers of order-of-birth of family lines. For example, a person who is an oldest child (1), whose Schrock parent was a fifth child (5), and whose Schrock grandparent was a fourth child (4), would be given the number 4 - 5 - 1. If the person given the number 4 - 5 - 1 has a second child, his child would have the number 4 - 5 - 1 - 2

To find a person in the history,

Step one: Roman numeral --- if the Roman numeral is V, turn to section five, the fifth generation.

Step two: Order-of-birth number --- if the order-of-birth number is 4 - 3 - 2, the person being looked for will be a second child, his parent a 3rd child, and his grandparent a 4th child. Find this number (4 - 3 - 2) in numerical order in the fifth generation.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem. It is shown that the problem is well-posed and that the solution exists and is unique. The second part of the paper is devoted to the construction of the solution. It is shown that the solution can be constructed by the method of successive approximations. The third part of the paper is devoted to the numerical solution of the problem. It is shown that the numerical solution can be obtained by the method of finite differences.
